Black Tie is a new comedy written by A. R. Gurney about the generational shifts and family issues showing the author's warmth, humor and insight. A brief discussion will follow on cultural diversity and creative plays.

WoW cultural events are part of the WoW social activities that help promote the participation of women in science by establishing strong networks of support and exchange of various academic and personal issues that strengthen connections and raise awareness of key issues to help support women in their studies and retain them in the sciences.

All Are Welcome.
