Join us Rapture, Blister, Burn, a play by Gina Gionfriddo and featuring Amy Brenneman. It tells a story about two friends from grad school, a successful author and a stay-at-home mom, who envy each other's lives. With insight and wit, this comedy is an unflinching look at gender politics in the wake of 20th century feminist ideals. A brief discussion will follow on American women culture, the role of women in the society, and the balance between career and family.

WoW cultural events are part of the WoW social activities that help promote the participation of women in science by establishing strong networks of support and exchange of various academic and personal issues that strengthen connections and raise awareness of key issues to help support women in their studies and retain them in the sciences.

All Are Welcome.
